Practice

Sheren deals with all aspects of family work, both publicly and privately funded. Her experience includes applications for ancillary relief, financial provision under the Children Act 1989, applications under Inheritance (Provision for Family and Dependants) Act 1975 and applications under the Trusts of Land and Appointment of Trustees Act 1996.

Sheren has a particular interest in all aspects of child law. She has represented local authorities, parents, children and other parties in care proceedings. Her experience includes abduction of children from care and injunctive relief to prevent press publication of details of a child's identity and placement. In addition to her public law work, she also undertakes private law children work.

She has a practical, confident approach and is sensitive to the stresses and strains for the client facing family proceedings.
