Personal Injury CV

Overview

Emma has developed an extensive personal injury practice involving complex and valuable personal injury litigation.

She has experience of the full range of injuries including brain, spinal, amputations and fatalities. Emma has also worked on multi-party actions including those arising out of product liability and accidents abroad.

She acts for insurers across a broad range of policies, including motor, where dishonesty is in issue. She has previously appeared in high profile fraud trials lasting many months in the criminal courts and her civil clients appreciate this breadth of expertise and aptitude for cross examination.

Emma also has expertise in issues of professional liability arising out of injury litigation.

She has very quickly established herself as one of the leading juniors on the circuit. Recommendations from her peers in Chambers and Partners for the last four years are testament to her popularity and tenacity in Court.

Recommendations

The Legal 500:

2018/19 - "She quickly masters a case and her clients love her."

2017 - "Her organisational skills and attention to detail are admirable."

2016 - "A fantastic barrister, who puts her clients at ease and wins over juries."

Chambers and Partners:

2017 - "Her relationship with clients is very good. She is a robust advocate, but in a reassuringly calm way." "She's great on her feet and can stand her ground."

2016 - "Emma is incredibly hard-working and a delight to work with. She takes away the solicitor burden in the amount of work she takes on."

2015 - "A go-to barrister, she loves a scrap and she usually wins!"

2014 - "A strong junior with wide-ranging experience across fraud, sexual offences, serious violence and drugs matters."

2013 - "Having arrived from London has made her presence felt...One solicitor commenting that she is a "real fighter and a rising star".
