Professional Negligence CV

Overview

Andrew has a busy professional negligence law practice, specialising particularly in disputes involving financial advisers, solicitors, surveyors and other construction professionals, including claims arising out of construction disputes and sale and leasing of land and the mis-selling of financial investments. He has acted against a former Premiership club director in a dispute referred to arbitration.

Recommendations

“Acts on a broad range of commercial chancery disputes, offering expertise in unfair prejudice petitions and other shareholder litigation matters as well as contract law. He also advises on professional negligence cases.” “He’s got an exceptionally good way with lay clients. He’s quite fearless and commercially very realistic.” “An accomplished chancery and commercial litigator who draws on a wealth of advocacy experience in both international and domestic disputes. His areas of expertise include injunction and restitution claims, commercial theft, breaches of trust and fiduciary obligations.” “One of the most people-friendly and commercially aware barristers out there. His ability to communicate at any level sets him apart. Attentive and responsive with clients: he always adds value.” – Chambers and Partners 2017

“...A respected senior junior with a strong commercial chancery practice. He is commonly instructed in disputes relating to mortgages, fiduciary obligations, negligence and breach of trust.” “He’s very good with clients and always willing to go the extra mile.” “Noted for his strength in representing clients in the financial services sector. His practice encompasses property and professional negligence litigation, as well as cases concerning breach of trust and breach of fiduciary duty.” “A passionate and very intelligent advocate who is tactically astute and really gets behind your case.” – Chambers and Partners 2016

“... has a wide-ranging practice including asset finance enforcements, fraud and breach of contract matters.” – Legal 500 2016

“Committed advocate who reads a situation well”. Legal 500 2015
