Alternative Dispute Resolution CV Overview

Neil was accredited as a mediator by CEDR in 2001. In 2007 he was awarded the status of Registered Mediator to recognise his expertise in and commitment to mediation. Neil has acted as lead mediator in over 50 full day mediations: almost all complex and requiring the attendance of counsel and solicitor. As part of his interest in developing his skill in this area, Neil acquired a Diploma in Relational Mindfulness from the Karuna Institute in 2016.

Neil is also a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators. He has taken part as an advocate in a number of arbitrations (including in particular in the areas of commercial rent review and real property) and has successfully conducted several arbitrations.

Chambers and Partners

“He is a pleasure to deal with; a very good orator who charms his audience into submission.” “He is extremely clever and has immense gravitas.”

“A really, really effective barrister who is excellent on partnership issues. He has a way of distilling cases down to their component parts and getting those points across to a judge in a superior fashion.”

“A very good partnership lawyer.” “An excellent advocate who is a very thorough and safe pair of hands.”

“Hugely personable and refreshingly unflamboyant advocate.” He maintains a broad chancery and commercial practice and is particularly noted for his expertise in property-related work; in partnership, “a nice and highly effective opponent”.

Clients highly rate Neil’s “forensic skills and skilful cross-examination style”, noting that he is “someone who gets to grip easily with the details of document-heavy litigation.”

“A leading junior with ‘a brain the size of a planet.’”

“A leader at the Bar in partnership.”

A leader at the Bar in Chancery law recommended for his “incisive analytical approach.”

“A leader at the Bar in in partnership (“commonsensical and dedicated”).
