Property & Planning CV

Overview

Peter is a Chartered Surveyor who transferred to the Bar in 2013 after more than 25 years' in practice in planning and development.

Peter has extensive experience in dealing with large, complex and controversial planning proposals at application and appeal stages and in subsequent appeal proceedings, acting as advisor to both public and private sector clients on strategy, tactics and procedure. He is a team player, comfortable working alongside fellow professionals as part of the project team.

All well as all aspects of town and country planning in England and Wales (including applications, appeals, enforcement, environmental impact assessment, CIL, planning obligations, local and neighbourhood plans, local and neighbourhood development orders, listed buildings and advertisement control), Peter is also familiar with dealing with the consenting arrangements in the Planning Act 2008 for NSIPs as well as other consent regimes (e.g. Transport and Works Act, Electricity Act, hybrid bills) and associated areas of law including highways/public rights of way, compulsory purchase, assets of community value, environmental and land law.

His experience enables Peter to identify and appreciate the commercial implications of any instruction and to take a considered view about possible outcomes. He has a keen, informed, analytical approach combined with a practical understanding of the issues at hand.

Beyond the Bar

Peter builds dry stone walls; bakes bread; and enjoys music, theatre and cricket (when time permits). He is a Fellow of the Royal Asiatic Society.

Cases

Peter commenced practice as a planning consultant in 1986 and from the outset was involved in complex, challenging and often controversial planning and development projects, beginning – as a junior planning assistant – with Canary Wharf and including in later years developments such as Bath Western Riverside and Tottenham Hotspur's new stadium project.

His planning experience encompasses large-scale housing and urban expansion proposals, universities, manufacturing, research and distribution, leisure and hotels, tall buildings, the Defence Estate, theme parks and visitor attractions, 'one off' developments and programmes of development (including budget hotels, branded restaurants and corporate rebranding exercises), airports and airport-related development, railways (including the Crossrail parliamentary process), energy generation and transmission, sports stadia and listed buildings and enabling development.

His wider property experience encompasses highways proposals, public rights of way, easements (including rights of light), restrictive covenants, boundary disputes and private and public nuisance.

Some examples of recently reported cases include:

Burnley Borough Council v Huron Properties Ltd [2017] RVR 279/[2016] EWHC 3803 (Admin) – the correct approach to interpreting the statutory list of buildings of special architectural and historic interest where there is ambiguity

R (on the application of Mars Jones) v Secretary of State for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy [2017] EWHC 1111 (Admin) – claim for judicial review of the North Wales Wind Farms Connection Order 2016
