Environmental Regulation

Overview

Brynmor has substantial experience of environmental litigation. His expertise extends to Environmental Protection Act proceedings and in civil claims of nuisance. He recently defended a landlord who faced more than 30 simultaneous prosecutions under the Environmental Protection Act. Brynmor combines expertise in housing and property law with environmental law. He frequently deals with issues of housing disrepair or relating to housing standards.

Chambers and Partners describe Brynmor as a as having a “superb analytical brain and superb judgement”, whilst the Legal 500 says that he “has a highly analytical mind” and he is “popular with clients due to his unflappable and common sense approach”.

Brynmor recently joined Exchange Chambers from London. His practice now covers the whole country. He is regularly instructed by local authorities and is also a member of the Attorney General's Panel of Counsel, which enables him to represent central government departments.
