Beyond the Bar

Outside work, Richard is a keen football fan and enjoys reading and live music. Richard spends the rest of his spare time with his partner and two sons.

Practice Overview

Richard specialises in employment and discrimination, personal injury, and the regulation of professional conduct.

Richard acts for a wide range of clients in employment cases including businesses, individuals, trade unions and public sector organisations. He frequently acts for claimants and respondents in multi-day employment and discrimination cases, including at appellate level.

In personal injury Richard has experience of acting for both claimants and defendants in cases up to multi-track. Richard also has experience in regulatory and disciplinary tribunals. He has advised and represented in matters before the NMC, HCPC, the FCA, and in sports disciplinary/anti-doping matters.

Additionally, Richard brings a wide range of experience since being called to the bar a decade ago, having worked in-house at HM Treasury, the Financial Conduct Authority, and Nursing and Midwifery Council in addition to self-employed practice.

He is a member of the bar's pro bono charity Advocate, the Sports Resolutions pro bono panel, and previously worked for a law firm in Texas representing death row prisoners. Richard is accredited by the Bar Council to undertake direct public access work.
