Criminal CV

Overview

Andrew is a highly regarded and sought after Leading Junior who was called to the bar in 1996 following seven years with the CPS based in Manchester. He is a specialist criminal barrister who provides advice and advocacy for both the prosecution and defence.

Andrew is well respected for his meticulous preparation, a pragmatic attitude, first rate client care and skilled jury advocacy.

He is regularly instructed to prosecute cases involving organised crime groups and has extensive experience of prosecuting multi-handed conspiracies to commit the most serious allegations involving homicide, drug supply, firearms and robbery.

He is equally at home defending and maintains a substantial defence practice with considerable experience in the most grave and complex criminal cases including large scale fraud, drug supply and homicide.

Andrew is an expert in cases involving allegations of fraud and he has extensive experience of representing clients charged with fraudulent activity in areas including MTIC, eBay, mortgage and 'copycat' websites.

The nature of his work regularly includes associated confiscation proceedings and he is therefore often engaged in high value proceedings involving third party interest claims and hidden assets.

Although based in Manchester, he is regularly instructed to work off circuit and is happy to travel when required. He retains an interest in youth crime involving those with learning disabilities and is a member of the National Autistic Society pro-bono unit at Exchange Chambers.
